

Music to Your Ears: Attending a Performance by the UT School of Music

Your peers in the music school put on some fairly incredible performances throughout the year. Show them your support for little or no out-of-pocket cost by attending a performance put on by the UT Butler School of Music. Check the website for upcoming events: <http://www.music.utexas.edu/Default.aspx>.

Skill Module Requirements: Attend a performance, write a one-page double-spaced review of your experience, and attach proof of attendance to your skill module.

I will be taking a group to the University Orchestra performance on October 12th if you wish to attend a performance with myself and some Research Methods buddies.

Here are some other upcoming performances:

University Orchestra

<http://www.music.utexas.edu/ensembles/details.aspx?ID=27>

October 12, 2010

November 23, 2010

2010-11 Butler Featured Event Series

<http://www.music.utexas.edu/calendar/featuredConcert/details.aspx?id=5>

Fall Faculty Gala

Sunday, September 12, 7:30 pm

Bates Recital Hall

Wind Ensemble

Jerry Junkin, conductor

Featuring Joesph Alessi, trombone

& The Jim Cullum Jazz Band

Sunday, September 24, 7:30 pm

Bass Concert Hall

David Small, baritone

Rick Rowley, piano

Jessen Series of Distinguished Faculty Artists

Wintereise by Franz Schubert

Friday, October 15, 2010

Miró Quartet

Beethoven Quartet Cycle II

Thursday, November 18, 7:30 pm

Happy listening!